THE CONCEPT

"Men have their cigar clubs. Women have their nail appointments. It's time we had something different."

In ambitious professional circles, women are rarely given — or give themselves — permission to speak openly about money, power, aspiration, strategy, and growth. Not in the polished language of LinkedIn, nor in the unguarded warmth of friendship. There is no dedicated space where a driven woman can walk in and be both.

Exotic Women is that space. The name is intentional: because it is exotic, still, for women to gather and speak frankly about where they are going, what they want, and who they are becoming — without shrinking into social expectation or performing ambition for someone else's comfort.

This first gathering marks the beginning of a professional network built for women who refuse to choose between being capable and being human.

Hosted by Martyna Śleszyńska, Director

FEATURED SESSION

Find Your True Colour

Professional presence begins with knowing who you are — and that includes how you present yourself to the world. Iwona Jankowska will guide us through personal colour coordination: identifying your unique palette, understanding how colour shapes perception, and discovering how to dress with purpose and confidence.
